STUDENT ESSAY

With the exception of the $50 fee paid by students, the Bates Wilson Camp is fully supported by a grant provided to the Friends of Arches and Canyonlands Parks. This is an opportunity for students to enrich their outdoor experience or to develop new interests and potential fields of study while spending three days with professionals working in several areas.

Students, please write an essay introducing yourself and then describe your interests in the outdoors through a particular experience that inspired you, or your hopes to pursue a career in the National Park Service, conservation, outdoor education, geology, cultural history, public policy, or careers in outfitting and guiding. Don't worry if you are uncertain where your interests lie. If you love being outside, tell us why.

Please write neatly or type on a separate sheet – at least one double-spaced typed page but no more than two – and attach it to your application.

PAYMENT OPTIONS:

Fee for the Bates Wilson Camp is $50 per accepted student and will be due on acceptance to the Camp. Scholarships may be available to support the $50 application fee. Transportation to and from Moab, UT is not included.

ADDITIONAL REGISTRATION ON ACCEPTANCE:

The Bates Wilson Camp will be operated by Canyonlands Field Institute (CFI), Moab Utah, a licensed outfitter and outdoor education school. CFI will provide a more complete registration packet including: registration, assumption of risk, and medical, forms as well as a complete gear list, gear rental options, schedule, curriculum, and guide biographies.

Mail completed application and student essay by September 30, 2016:
